Step Six

June 2023 Step, Tradition, and Concept Six

“Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character .”

Step six is appropriate after steps one through five. It is no coincidence. The steps are perfectly written and in order for a reason.

Reading Step 6 in the Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions, I readily came to the decision right away that I was more than willing to have God remove my defects of character. I would be glad when I got rid of them. Who would not want that? I could not relate to the words; I needed my higher power’s help. I thought I needed to do the work. Looking back, I really had no clue what this step meant. I was willing, so now I can move on to the next step. Then you told me this was a lifetime process, okay. Whatever that means.

This step became a part of me without my being aware. I would learn many life lessons living with my character defects. After all, I had homed in on them for twenty-five years. Some of my character defects had helped me survive and some, as I was unaware of, were destroying me. Learning what my character defects were was painful. Major fear, false pride, self pity, ego, resentments, self righteous anger, etc. Self pity was one that was a comfortable place for me. But you told me it would kill me. I began to understand, but it was not easy to give up. I did not even realize how much fear I really had and that it controlled so much of my life.

Today my character defects are still a part of me. The difference today is they do not control me or dominate me like they used to. My relationship with my higher power became stronger because of this step. Through struggling with the problems I had in life and in my relationships as a result of my character defects, he helped me time and time again, when I could not help myself. It became clear, one day, I could not do it by myself, without my higher power. I learned more and more that I could trust him to give me the knowledge and strength to do the next right thing to right my wrongs and overcome my defects of character. I became willing to seek his help. As time went by, I could see the gift I was given. It was Step 6.

When I am struggling, and to be honest, I struggle a lot, I ask my higher power to help me, without hesitation. I know all I have to do is go to a meeting, talk to another alcoholic. I hear you share your experience, strength and hope and I find my solution.

Notes from your Service Office:

The General Service Theme for 2023 is:

“A.A.’s Three Legacies— Our Common Solution.”

June 10th, 1935, Dr. Bob Smith stopped drinking on June 10, 1935, and thus, the fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous was born. If you attend the 88th Anniversary of Alcoholics Anonymous in Akron, Ohio from June 9th through June 11th, you could join the motorcade to Dr. Bob’s graveside for a memorial tribute. That would be amazing to see and do. I have no doubt we all have gratitude in our hearts for the miracle of their meeting that day that was the beginning of this divinely inspired program that touched our lives today and after 88 years it will continue into the future.

I am also grateful for all our volunteers that are of service at Minneapolis Intergroup to reach the newcomer to help them find the A.A. program. We are needing volunteers to join our Group and Member Services Committee for our Annual Outreach Program 2023. Just sign up to visit one group by June 30th in the northern suburbs such as: Maple Grove, Champlin, Brooklyn Center, Andover, Coon Rapids, Anoka, Annandale, Blaine, etc. Stop in the Intergroup office anytime to choose a group to visit. Your service will enhance Intergroup’s efforts in two ways. This will assure that our meeting directory information is correct and inform members about the opportunities to carry the A.A. message through Intergroup’s 12 Step Services.

It is time to put the word out for members with five years sobriety to run in the Board Elections on Thursday, September 28th at the Intergroup Rep meeting. Board resumes are available at the office or online under “Intergroup Representatives”. Look for the blue link. Go to aaminneapolis.org. There are many details on the back side of the form about this commitment to consider. A Board member serves a three-year term. Do not pass up this opportunity without checking into it. Everyone I know has said it is a rewarding service opportunity. Talk to any current Board member or stop in the office. I would love to answer any questions you have.

Thank you to every A.A. member in Minneapolis and Suburban Cities that has stepped up to contribute to Minneapolis Intergroup when we needed it. I am touched and overwhelmed at your response. In October we mentioned a trend in unsteady contributions. In about four to five months your contributions have brought us up out of a negative projected budget for 2023.

As I know so many of you have contributed your time over the last many, many years, I believe you know that your contributions go to our vital services we have that reach out to the still suffering alcoholic. And I have been told by many of you, that you have been that person.

In Love and Service

Gail S., Your Office Manager

Notes from Your Board Chair:

As we enjoy our beautiful spring in Minnesota we at Minneapolis Intergroup are in the midst of an important activity, the annual outreach program. Each year we identify about seventy meetings to be the subject of this effort. Our objective is to inform those attending these meetings of the many services provided by Intergroup, request that they send a representative to our monthly Intergroup reps meetings and to update information we have on file about the meeting so that we can ensure that our web site has accurate information. We very much appreciate all of the volunteers that are going out to the selected meetings.

The coming of June also will be bringing a new opportunity for A.A. members that enjoy golf to participate in a golf event on June 19 whose proceeds will be used to benefit Minneapolis Intergroup. This outing is being sponsored by one of our A.A. groups, Men At Work. Our Board of Directors met with individuals from this group to clarify the plans and to ensure that we will be honoring the A.A. Traditions in carrying out the event. We also understand that this outing sold out soon after its announcement.

One other thing that we need to start thinking about, September Board elections! Each year on the fourth Thursday in September we elect four new Board members. This year the elections will be held on September 28, 2023 at the Intergroup Reps meeting. The elected Board members will be serving a three year term, from October 1, 2023 through September 30, 2026. I would encourage anyone with at least five years of sobriety and with a willingness to serve to consider this opportunity. It is a big commitment but the rewards of this job far outweigh the costs. Talk to your sponsor, talk with your family and talk with any current or past Board members. I believe that participating on the Intergroup Board of Directors is the best service opportunity in our metro area.

Twelve Concepts for World Service, written by Bill W. in 1962

CONCEPT VI

On behalf of A.A. as a whole, our General Service Conference has the principal responsibility for the maintenance of our world services, and it traditionally has the final decision respecting large matters of general policy and finance. But the Conference also recognizes that the chief initiative and the active responsibility in most of these matters should be exercised primarily by the Trustee members of the Conference when they act among themselves as the General Service Board of Alcoholics Anonymous.

As I write this I have just returned from the 73rd General Service Conference, a week where these Concepts of ours were front and center for all of us participants, delegates, trustees, and General Service Office staff. When I was newly sober I had a friend in the rooms who, when she chaired a meeting she would ask someone to read "How it Works" and then she would ask someone to read the Traditions, which she referred to as "Why it Works". I have come over years to understand the Concepts also can and must be included in the why it works category. We had an ambitious agenda of 94 items, some of which came out of committee in the form of recommendations which included actions, and it is the General Service Board who becomes responsible for those actions the Conference requests. The Concept VI essay in our Service Manual goes on to say this:

Just as the A.A. groups find themselves unable to act decisively respecting world service affairs unless they delegate a great amount of active authority and responsibility to their Conference, so must the Conference in turn delegate a liberal administrative authority to the General Service Board, in order that its Trustees may act freely and effectively in the absence of the Conference itself.

The conference meets once a year and relies on our Trustees to take the actions that make things happen in A.A. for A.A. And, of course, for the still suffering alcoholic, who must always be first and foremost in our thoughts and actions. Our Trustees are a vital part of our structure, they are trusted servants indeed, each bringing their life experience, personal experience, and professional experience and talents to Alcoholics Anonymous to be used in whatever way A.A. asks. They serve as Class A trustees (non-alcoholic), Class B trustees (alcoholic), in the same way we all serve in our home groups and districts and Areas, with love and gratitude for Alcoholics Anonymous, and a deep understanding of the privilege it is to serve. While not all of them come to this service under the lash of alcoholism they all serve willingly and graciously. Our Fellowship is lucky to have them indeed. Thank you for letting me be of service.

The Twelve Traditions - How They Apply In Our Lives

TRADITION 6 - An AA group ought never endorse, finance, or lend the AA name to any related facility or outside enterprise, lest problems of money, property, and prestige divert us from our primary purpose

The early history of Alcoholics Anonymous includes classic examples bearing directly on the formation of the Sixth Tradition: the offer made our co-founder Bill W. to ally himself with a hospital as an "AA counselor"; those education binges when we succeeded in confusing the public (and ourselves) as to just who we were and what it was we were trying to do. That's the past. What about today?

This Tradition was brought into focus for me when a newcomer I was sponsoring became fascinated with it. He read the chapter in Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions and then started asking questions--as I should have when I was a newcomer.

I was so fogbound for years after coming in that, even though I heard and read about our policy of nonaffiliation, there seemed to be no question but that AA was tied in with hospitals and prisons. Every time I went, trembling, to visit or to speak at an AA group in an institution, I was strongly aware of the courtesy and the kind familiarity on the part of the authorities. In my mind, their attitude translated into affiliation. If I'd had a sponsor in the beginning, this and many other matters might have been gotten into a truer perspective.

"What about the AA boat ride? asked the newcomer. "Isn't that a case of AA endorsing an outside enterprise?"

A local AA group was sponsoring a boat ride on the river for recreation, to raise funds to defray group expenses, and also to make a contribution to our local intergroup. Was AA endorsing the line that owned the sightseeing boat? No. The group was simply paying for use of the boat, as it does for meeting quarters. The misunderstanding in the newcomer's mind was the result of hearing the activity constantly referred to as "the AA boat ride."

What is a newcomer to think? And if those of us who have been around for a while keep repeating such terms, what will we eventually think ourselves?

We still hear references to "AA clubs." Our early experience with them and with AA groups that meet under the same roof had a lot to do with the forging of the Sixth Tradition. When I came into the Fellowship in 1960, I started attending meetings at the Old 24th Street Clubhouse. It had just moved to its new home, one block south, on 23rd Street. I was told it was an AA clubhouse. That was the way I thought of it and the way I spoke of it. It was a long time before I understood that it was actually a clubhouse for AAs.

The present-day newcomer didn't get the distinction. "Isn't that all just a lot of semantics?" he said. "You know what people mean when they say that."

No, I don't always know what people mean if they don't tell me. So I explained that the term "AA club" would imply AA ownership--thereby involving AA in "problems of money, property, and prestige." That's why it has been found wise to incorporate clubs for AAs as separate entities, not owned by any group or collection of groups. If a group wants to meet in such a clubhouse, it pays rent as it would to a church or a civic hall.

The Sixth Tradition alerts us to the dangers of the appearance of affiliation. A few years ago, an AA group in my area was obliged to move from quarters it had occupied for many years. Against the recommendation of several of its members, the group voted to move into a center for drug rehabilitation. The rehab center was advertising to encourage the use of its facilities by civic and social groups. The group did not affiliate with the center but did hang its AA sign directly under the drug program sign. The impression of affiliation, if not endorsement, was created. At least, the group did not change its name and take the name of the rehab center. Our General Service Conference has reminded central offices and intergroups, as a guideline, that it is a good idea for new groups not to name themselves after the facility or institution where they hold their meetings. Too often, impressions endure longer than facts.

"Tell me," the newcomer said, with a touch of defiance in his voice, "how an AA group might finance an outside enterprise." I remember an AA member's soliciting groups for bail money for an AA friend of his who had been arrested and charged with a serious crime. Only an insignificant amount was raised, because there were enough informed members around to resist having their AA groups finance the bail bond business. Without the Sixth to guide them, however, even that handful of members might have viewed the bailout action as a charitable one and set aside their groups' primary purpose.

"Are you saying that we have to be on our toes all the time? That we have to watch everything we think and say?"

Yes, and what we write, too. A friend of mine once innocently sent AA members a note that concerned a local intergroup activity but was written on his company business letterhead. There were no repercussions, but the impression could very easily have been created that the intergroup office and his office were affiliated.

The number one intent of our Traditions, of course, is to guide our groups and our Society as a whole in the ways of unity. And they serve a further end as well. For example, another aspect of this Tradition is the opposite of endorsement, namely, criticism. How easy it would be for the AA movement to point out to the proliferating alcoholism rehab programs just where we think they are going wrong. It also happens that criticism is one of the gravest of my old character defects. It is still the easiest thing for me to criticize a fellow AA for not working the program the way it should be worked; to criticize a group for not running its meetings the way I think they should be run; to criticize the operation of our General Service Office.

"You make it sound like the Fourth Step," the newcomer said, and he visibly drew back. "You make it sound just like an inventory."

That is pretty much what the Traditions come down to--an ongoing inventory of the who, why, what, when, and where of groups and of AA as a whole. The Sixth is warning us against a natural tendency to embrace all manner of causes, noble or ignoble. It warns us to be aware of our limitations: AA cannot be everything to everyone. It reminds us to be ever on guard against three major shortcomings: (a) the crusader's ardor, (b) the one-sidedness of the zealot, and (c) perhaps the villain of the piece, the savior complex.

"None of that is going to happen to me," said the newcomer, as he walked away, "now that I know about it." I sincerely hope not. I've been done in by all three.
