Minneapolis Intergroup: Recovery, Unity, Service

April 2025 Step, Tradition, Concept Four.

Step Four

Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves

One morning, not long after a humiliating and disheartening fiasco at my cousin's wedding, I woke up—an adult, yet still living in my mom's basement. In that moment of clarity, I realized I couldn't keep living the way I had been. I needed help.

My first introduction to the Fourth Step was in a treatment program. At the time, I was still in a fog, and the worksheets felt so overwhelming that I didn't complete it.

After leaving treatment and joining AA, I started working the steps with my sponsor. We moved quickly through the first three steps—really, the only action required was getting on our knees to say the Third Step Prayer. But then came Step Four, and I was immediately scared and overwhelmed. The step calls for a "searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves," but I was full of fear. On top of that, I had seen the worksheets and heard various ways people approached their Fourth Step, which only added to my confusion.

Thank goodness for my sponsor. She guided me through the Fourth Step exactly as it's laid out in the Big Book, starting on page 64—first with resentments, then fears, and finally, sex relations. She also reassured me that I didn't have to do it perfectly. I just needed to get everything down on paper and make a start. That was exactly what I needed to hear. If I had believed it had to be perfect, I might never have started at all. She also gave me a timeline, which helped keep me accountable—I finished it about ten minutes before our meeting.

That first Fourth Step with my sponsor was eye-opening. I hadn't realized how many resentments I was carrying or how much fear had been shaping my life without my awareness or consent. Seeing my part in those resentments was a powerful lesson, and for the first time, I began to understand just how much fear had been holding me back.

The fourth step brought up a fear I had—that I wasn't smart enough for college since I had barely finished high school. It took me many years and countless extra hours of seeking help wherever I could, but in sobriety, I pushed through those doubts. Despite my fears, I graduated from college.

My first Fourth Step was far from perfect. As I continued working through the 12 Steps with my sponsor, I uncovered even more resentments and fears that needed my attention. Over time, I've done several Fourth Steps—sometimes focusing on a specific issue, which has helped me dig deeper, identify the real problem, and recognize my part in it.

Working the Fourth Step with a sponsor was essential for me. She held me accountable, helped me recognize my part in resentments, provided insights into my fears, and, most importantly, reassured me that it didn't have to be perfect.

Notes from your Service Office:

The General Service Theme for 2025 is: “Working Together, Increasing Trust.”

We are delighted to host and invite you to join us for our 42nd Annual Gratitude Night at the Minneapolis Convention Center in downtown Minneapolis on Saturday, April 26th, 2025, starting at 6:30 PM. This special event is our heartfelt opportunity to honor the exceptional volunteers who have fueled the success of the Minneapolis Intergroup over the past year. Join us for an evening filled with gratitude, connection, and inspiration. It’s a chance to hear amazing speakers from both A.A. and Alanon, share experiences with new friends in the fellowship, and explore the various information tables hosted by the Southern Minnesota Area 36 service committees. We truly hope you will be part of this memorable occasion!

Gratitude Night is a night when we get to celebrate all the amazing volunteers who make Intergroup possible. Minneapolis Intergroup is dedicated to ensuring that whenever anyone, anywhere, reaches out for help, the compassionate hand of Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.) is always ready to support them. This is only achievable thanks to hundreds of devoted volunteers who contribute thousands of hours each year. From folding our monthly newsletter to visiting A.A. groups to keep our meeting directory accurate, our volunteers generously give their time in countless ways. Most importantly, they make sure our phones are answered 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, by sober members of Alcoholics Anonymous, ensuring that no one has to face their struggles alone.

Minneapolis Intergroup plays an essential role in upholding the Three Legacies of Recovery, Unity, and Service, making vital 12-step work possible for individuals and groups within A.A. We are immensely grateful to belong to a community that displays self-sacrifice and personal responsibility for newcomers throughout the year. Your individual and group support is crucial to maintaining these indispensable services. So, we invite you to join us on April 26th at the Convention Center to celebrate the fellowship that ensures the hand of AA is always available, and ready to help those in need. Your presence matters. Together, we can continue to make a difference!

If you are unable to join us in person, please consider purchasing a ticket to donate. This allows a newer member of our fellowship, who otherwise may not be able, to attend this powerful evening.

With Much Gratitude,

Erin D. Your Office Manager

Notes from Your Board Chair:

This month we get the joy of celebrating with one another during Gratitude Night, our true thankfulness for all the many ways our fellowship, both paid and volunteer, have kept the lifesaving gift of Intergroup available when someone reached out for help. We get to honor the journey of those with less than 24 hours to those with several decades of sobriety. We get to see and feel how incredible the bonds are that unite us and prove the age-old AA-ism “we are not a glum lot” with some dancing - which I am not good at.

In my own journey I know the importance of listing things I am grateful for. This is one of them! I hope you can join us on April 26th for Gratitude Night. A night to appreciate the gifts that have come from giving not just to a corporation or entity, but to a mission. The mission that Intergroup pledges to carry out 24/7 - to help anyone who has a drinking problem, to carry the message of A.A. and to be of service to A.A. groups in Minneapolis and the Suburban Area.

Twelve Concepts for World Service, written by Bill W. in 1962

Concept Four

Long Form Throughout our Conference structure, we ought to maintain at all responsible levels a traditional “Right of Participation,” taking care that each classification or group of our world servants shall be allowed a voting representation in reasonable proportion to the responsibility that each must discharge.

Short Form At all responsible levels, we ought to maintain a traditional “Right of Participation,” allowing a voting representation in reasonable proportion to the responsibility that each must discharge.

Concept IV emphasizes the importance of effective leadership and service within the AA structure. This concept underscores the belief that every member of AA has an equal opportunity to participate in the organization’s governance. It highlights the democratic principles that govern A.A., ensuring that decisions reflect the collective input of its members rather than being dictated by a select few.

From our Twelve Concepts Illustrated – “The principle of “Right of Participation” is built into the General Service Conference through the Conference Charter. Voting members include not only delegates, but also the trustees, and the directors and staff members of A.A. World Services (i.e., G.S.O.) and the A.A. Grapevine. In the same way, the boards of these two operating entities include as voting members not only trustees, but also non-trustee directors and paid administrators and staff members.”

When I attend our Conference next month there will be a total of slightly over 130 voting conference members, not just the 93 delegates, who meet as equals serving our fellowship. This concept fosters a sense of inclusion and belonging among members. It encourages individuals to share their experiences and opinions, which can lead to more informed and balanced decision-making. Additionally, it reinforces the idea that recovery is a communal effort, and every voice matters.

Concept IV holds true throughout our service structure at the

So, Concept IV reminds us that leadership in AA is not about power but about service. Leaders are viewed as trusted servants who facilitate the participation of others rather than imposing their will. This principle helps to create an environment where members feel empowered to contribute, which can enhance their commitment to the recovery process.

In summary, Concept IV of Alcoholics Anonymous is a vital component ensuring that all members have the right to participate; we encourage an inclusivity that values each individual’s contributions, ultimately strengthening our collective group conscience.

Grateful to be of service,

The Twelve Traditions - How They Apply In Our Lives

Tradition Four

Each group should be autonomous except in matters affecting other groups or A.A. as a whole.

During my sobriety, I've swung from one extreme to another before understanding the spirit of Tradition 4 and why it's important to practice the traditions in all aspects of my life. At first, I thought the traditions were just nice sayings on the AA meeting room wall. Then, a few years later, I became the self-appointed "Traditions attorney," pointing out every little violation to AA members and AA groups.

My real growth started when my sponsor told me to stop focusing on the letter of the law and understand the spirit of the traditions. He then asked me to think about how I could apply the traditions in all areas of my life: in AA, at home, and at work.

Tradition 4 is all about autonomy. I got it wrong when I was telling local groups they weren't following the traditions properly. Who was I to decide what was right for them? I even told newcomers to avoid certain groups because I didn't think they were doing AA right. But who am I to know which group someone else will connect with? I saw people living happy, sober lives in groups I had judged to be lacking, and I realized each group's experience is valid. I'm just a small part of my home group, and my home group is a small part of AA. I need to make sure my actions don't harm the group or the AA community.

At home, my family is autonomous. We're only accountable to God through our family's group conscience. Our extended family or society's views shouldn't interfere with our marriage. I need to make sure my actions don't harm my family or the community. If our plans might affect others, we consult them first.

At work, my team is part of an organization. I need to make sure my actions don't harm the team or the company. Instead of backstabbing other teams, I can offer help if they want it. Instead of seeking attention for myself, I can highlight everyone's contributions on the team.

Finally, I try to see my actions through the eyes of others. How do my actions look to other home group members, or the person visiting the group for the first time? Am I trying to control their participation, or am I letting them be autonomous? How do my actions look to my spouse or coworkers? Do my actions encourage or discourage others from being themselves?
